

STADTMAN TENURE-TRACK INVESTIGATOR POSITIONS AVAILABLE AT THE NIH INTRAMURAL RESEARCH PROGRAM

The National Institutes of Health is pleased to announce its eleventh annual call for researchers who want to be NIH Earl Stadtman Investigators, a broad recruitment of tenure-track investigators (assistant professor-equivalent) within the NIH Intramural Research Program.

As a member of the IRP, you join a team whose hallmarks are stable funding, intellectual freedom, shared resources, and access to a wide range of scientific expertise. We seek a diverse cadre of creative thinkers eager to take on innovative, high-impact research.

QUALIFICATIONS/ELIGIBILITY:

Applicants must have an M.D., Ph.D., D.D.S./D.M.D., D.V.M, D.O., R.N./Ph.D., or equivalent doctoral degree and have an outstanding record of research accomplishments in any field relevant to the NIH mission, as evidenced by high-quality publications in peer-reviewed journals. Appointees may be U.S. citizens, resident aliens, or non-resident aliens with, or eligible to obtain, a valid employment- authorization visa. Please find answers to frequently asked questions at <http://tenuretrack.nih.gov/apply/faq/stadtman.html>.

HOW TO APPLY:

Apply online at <http://tenuretrack.nih.gov/apply> between August 1 and September 30, 2019 (11:59 p.m. EDT). Reference letters will be accepted via upload to the website until October 7, 2019. Specific questions regarding this recruitment effort may be directed to Dr. Roland Owens, Director of Research Workforce Development, NIH Office of Intramural Research, at owensrol@mail.nih.gov. DHHS and NIH are Equal Opportunity Employers.